Everything you always wanted to know - or didn't want to know - about pimple table tennis rubbers...

Pips is a table tennis equipment site set up by a group of like-minded table tennis players that are keen to educate the table tennis community about long pimples and other pimples rubbers. We feel these rubbers add great diversity to our game, and it's something that should be embraced, and not frowned upon or dismissed as a 'cheater's rubber'.

The purpose of this website is two fold:

- By providing comprehensive information and guides on pimples rubber we hope to bring more players to try these types of rubbers
- By educating all other players and teaching them how these rubbers work, players will learn how to play against these type of rubbers, and will see them as just another aspect of the game to learn and overcome.

We hope to also cover medium pimple and short pimple rubbers, as we see these merely as another variation in the rubber type, with properties somewhere in between long pimples and inverted style rubbers.

If you know a little about pimples rubbers and are willing to help us in our cause, please contact us! We need all the help we can get! Note that ideas and articles for this website are currently discussed in the forum section below, but eventually a dedicated forum will be set up for this purpose:
